

Business Superbook Book 15. Industry-Manufacturing Guide

Manufacturing is both product development and running the factory. Manufacturing is firstly creating a new product, automating the production process then selling it anywhere and everywhere. People in Manufacturing are involved in planning, managing, and performing the processing of materials into intermediate or final products. They also handle production planning and control, maintenance, and manufacturing/process engineering.

Some manufacturing jobs are: Aircraft and avionics equipment mechanics and service technicians Assemblers and fabricators Chemists and materials scientists Commercial and industrial designers Computer programmers Computer scientists and database administrators Computer software engineers Drafters Electricians Engineering and natural sciences managers Engineering technicians Engineers (Plant) Engineers (Plant) General and operations managers Health, Safety, and Environmental Assurance Heating, air-conditioning, and refrigeration mechanics and installers Home appliance repairers Industrial engineers Industrial machinery mechanics and maintenance workers Industrial Production Managers Inspectors, testers, sorters, samplers, and weighers Line installers and repairers Logistics and Inventory Control Machine setters, operators, and tenders, metal and plastic Machinists Maintenance and repair workers, general Maintenance, Installation, and Repair Manufacturing
