Energy Audit UNDONE as seen by others: "A fascinating and complete book in terms of energy savings for all types of buildings. Highly recommendable to professional estate managers, consultant engineers and it ought to be used at technical colleges/universities in this subject as well. Not least a first class guidance book on site! The writer seems to have extraordinary skills and experience in this field!"

•Customer. At last a practical step by step guide to carrying out a building energy audit for people with a basic engineering understanding. No graphs, no charts no complex equations. Everything is simplified and to the point. Want to save on hiring a professional energy consultant, do it yourself or delegate the energy audit to someone in your organisation? Do you want to sharpen your knowledge and skills? Perhaps you are learning about the subject and a hell of confused about it? Do you want to know the real truth about renewables? Then do not waste a minute. Buy the book because it answers all these questions. Buy it because it has got Building Energy Audit and Lighting Survey forms in it designed specifically to identify energy saving opportunity, record them, collect the necessary data to help complete calculations and to price the implementation of energy conservation measures (ECMs). Understand how to eliminate energy waste on all sorts of the systems: Air Handling Units, chilled water systems, heating, domestic hot water, building fabric, electrical systems, lighting, energy centre, steam and condense, compressed air, pipework insulation, building management system and others. If you can't bother reading the books or can't wait and want an immediate 5-7% energy reduction results, use the BMS Energy Conservation Measures table (pages 92-93 in the book) revealing to you all the quick wins items which will give you an immediate and substantial energy reduction.
