

Midlife Moves: Taking Charge of Your Future

There are six million Australians aged 35 to 65 and, for reasons of recession, redundancy and retirement, many will not have full-time paid work for as long as they wish, yet are living longer than ever before and have many more options for paid work, unpaid work and leisure than most people realise. This book is for those who want to have choices in their journey ahead. Susie Linder-Pelz leads readers towards a new future showing them how to assess their skills and interests, search for options and attain their goals. She also offers a comprehensive list of resources and further reading. Susie Linder-Pelz is a writer, researcher and educator. She is the author of Well Over Fifty and co-author of Health Care Issues.
