

Deep Space Fever

The temperature's rising, and there's only one cure. Pour on the heat. A Space Fever Torr's ability to train pilots is the planet Cortierra's only hope. Except he's suffering from lust fever two years ahead of schedule. He must return home to mate with a Zentarin female, or die! Unless by some miracle a Cortierran female satisfies him. A Cabbie will to anything to defend her home, even sleep with the hunky offworlder. One feverish night later, Torr has his cure, and Cabbie willingly gives him her heart until his motives flings it back at her in pieces. When rebels kidnap her, her life depends on her frayed bond with Torr. A Star Fever When Mar-Tessa's lust fever strikes right on schedule, she's horrified to discover why she's allergic to Zentarin males: she's half-Cortierran. The distasteful cure: exposure to a Cortierran male. Self-image wavering, she prepares to meet her antidote. A Ryandrus is so pumped to be selected to train with Zentarin pilots, he barely notices their disdain. Then a sexy vixen approaches him, and he finds himself promising anything to get her in bed. Shortly afterward, he's thrown on an outbound ship yet his body burns for his mate. And he intends to battle his way across the galaxy to find her again. A Warning: This book contains non-FDA-approved home remedies for lust fever, and bonding activities that are illegal in at least three galaxies.
