

Choose the Right Mate, Lover or Friend Through Handwriting

Jess E Dines is an impatient man. Hes impatient with the standard methods people use to get to know each other. I will not be seriously involved with anyone socially or in the business world unless the handwriting is first checked. Dines has a certified fellowship from the American Board of Forensic Examiners with over 25 years experience lecturing, teaching, writing about and practicing handwriting analysis. A BSEE electronic engineer, he emphasizes that graphology is a science determined by the empirical method of experimentation, observation and evaluation. It is a basic tool for self-help and personal relationships. He knows from personal experience. Recently he married a lady with a heart of gold after falling in love and being single for twenty-two years. Her handwriting did it! Now he is anxious to put his knowledge into the hands of the general public through his books and personal appearances. My contention is, with my books as a reference, anyone who can read and write can learn to perform handwriting analysis. The books he has written are exclusively for the casual reader. Painstaking efforts were made to take the complexity out of a very complex subject and bring it into the hands of the people. The purpose of the books are to help others in obtaining a better long-lasting, meaningful relationship and avoid undue anxieties, frustrations and above all catastrophic divorce.
