

Middle of the Night Housecall: Fever in Children Over Age Four

It is horribly frightening when a child is ill in the middle of the night. You don't know what to do or where to turn. You may have looked for advice on the internet, but found it confusing or worse yet you doubted whether the information was even safe or credible. You need accurate information now when trying to make decisions about your child's health. This guide is especially for parents in a quick, easy-to-read form. It gives you a guideline to follow when trying to decide between going to the Emergency Department or waiting it out. It is not meant to cover every situation or to be a comprehensive resource. It is written purposefully to be a brief and to the point guideline. We hope that you will find it useful. This guide and the information it contains applies to children aged 4 and above.
