

21 Questions from an Agnostic: Responses to questions on faith from an agnostic university student: Audrey (Gospel Seeds)

This book presents 21 hard-hitting questions (on Christian Faith) from an agnostic university student, together with respectful and reasoned responses from an ex-atheist Christian. These discussions helped the student (who was from a non-Christian agnostic background) to move from agnosticism to theism (belief in God) and a commitment to Christ.

Audrey is a university student, petite, blue-eyed and brunette, who is studying to be a nurse. She was brought up in a non-Christian home. In junior high, she started hanging out with the wrong crowd. As a result, she got into trouble of the sorts that are not uncommon to teenagers. After some years of this, and after some failed relationships (looking for meaning and love in those relationships) she concluded that life is meaningless, and the search for meaning in relationships is pointless. Some time later, a friend invited her to a Christian camp. Audrey was touched by the love and unconditional acceptance of the Christians at this camp. This started a process of her looking into Christianity. In that process, Audrey had many questions that needed answers. This book presents some of the questions and answers that helped to address her intellectual concerns and open the door for her to commit her life to Christ. This book includes a subset of her questions, in particular on (a) free will, (b) free will in heaven, (c) free-will & sin in heaven; (d) heaven, (e) God's regret, (f) God killing people, (g) God permitting the killing of people,

(h) God's anger, (i) God's people, (j) election, (k) is God selfless, (l) the free will-love theodicy, (m) God's apparent inaction, and (n) wisdom. Over several weeks of dialog, she came to realize that there are good answers to her questions. Her intellectual (and emotional) concerns were addressed (within reason) and this enabled her to commit herself wholeheartedly to Christ. --- About the Author: The description below is from the book "There is a God: How an Atheist Scientist Changed his Mind" by John M. Kinson. This book, "There is a God" (TIAG), presents the questions and answers, thoughts and discussions that occurred in the course of an Atheist Scientist moving from an atheistic world-view to belief in God. Many years of investigation, and an honest and rational appraisal of the scientific and philosophical evidence led him to the conclusion that God does exist. John (pen-name) is a research scientist with more than 100 publications in the hard-sciences, more than 10 inventions (with patents in various countries), and numerous scientific and technical awards in the course of his scientific career. He has collaborated with and published hard-science research articles with scientists from many of the top research universities in the world. In this book (TIAG), he presents a brief history of his journey (intellectually speaking) from Atheism to Theism and ultimately to Christ. --- For more information: The description below is from the book "Does Science Point to God? Is there Scientific Evidence for God?" by John M. Kinson. This book, "Does Science Point to

God? (DSP), is the result of a search by John (an atheist scientist) for ultimate truth. He went through several years of intense questioning of the meaning of life, and of the nature of ultimate reality. Over a period of time he investigated areas such as
• Is there evidence for God?
• Is there Scientific Evidence for God?
• Is it Rational to believe in God?
• Is it Reasonable to believe in God?
This book (DSP) briefly discusses some of the scientific and philosophical evidence that he came across during his investigation. In particular, this book (DSP) discusses (a) the origin of the universe, (b) the fine-tuning of the universe, (c) the origin of first life, and (d) the presence of language and information in DNA, in the context of Scientific Evidence for God.
