Then Steven and Stacey introduce the practical principles for a strong, inclusive program. These include:

1. Professional development for teachers working with students with special needs
2. Written documentation for teachers and learning assistants spelling out background information and proposed classroom strategies for each student
3. A program for identifying and training volunteer teaching assistants to provide one-on-one support for students in the school with special needs
4. An on-site learning lab that prepares students for success in the classroom, both on site and at satellite locations
5. An on-site supervisor who serves as a resource for teachers and parents
