

Recaptured Love: Intimacy-Sex and Prostate Cancer: Men With Prostate Cancer Make Better Lovers

Warning: Explicit and Honest Language is used in this book.

Recaptured Love book I, is as much for women as it is for men.

In clear and honest language Kevin Alexzander foregoes the dry, technical and clinical talk that often arises when talking about a subject that strikes fear in the lives of many mid-life men, women and couples: Intimacy, Sex, Prostate Cancer, Erectile Dysfunction, and the emotional stress that impacts the sex and relationship lives of hundreds of thousands each year. Recaptured Love lays out an easy to follow, step-by-step guide, to recapturing the intimacy that may have been lost with prostate cancer in your relationship. You™ll explore the 6 essential principles that open the door for a caring, honest and loving intimacy with your partner™and Yourself.

- Being Clear
- Self-Honesty
- Self-Imposed Limitations
- The Fear Myth
- Emotions • Attitude and Approach

Recaptured Love presents to you knowledge will help to recharge your intimate and sexual relationship forever.

That™s a pretty bold statement and Kevin backs it up by giving you the tools you™ll need to get the most out of not just the Recaptured Love series™but any book, video or workshop to improve your intimate relationship and is specifically designed to compliment any method of study you chose to undertake in intimacy and sex.

Beginning in November of 2000 Kevin Alexzander started a 15 year personal self-transformation that included divorce, diagnosis of advance stage prostate cancer, chemo, hormones, radical prostatectomy, radiation treatments, loss of his mother, home and career and the ability to achieve a natural erection due to prostate cancer treatments, along with incontinence. Kevin knows what it feels like to put up walls to intimacy and reexamine what it means to be a man. He struggled early in this new journey mentally and emotionally with reinventing his masculine essence with the physical changes he was experiencing in Intimacy with Prostate Cancer. Thanks to his lifelong study of intimacy and sexuality, and intense training, dialog and coaching over the past 15 years in intimacy, sexuality and mens work, combined with the principles of 30 years of martial arts training, Kevin was able to transform his relationship in Intimacy with Prostate Cancer and help other men, women and couples change their relationship in Intimacy with Prostate Cancer.

Kevin's mission is to give you the clarity, courage and commitment you need to succeed at Intimacy with Prostate Cancer. Prior to his current journey with prostate cancer, Kevin has been an award-winning small business management consultant; aide to a US Senator; Mens work facilitator; race car driver; martial arts instructor; photographer; producer, director, actor; and a graduate of the Harvard University, Kennedy School of Government, Community Builder Fellows Program. Kevin's media experience includes keynotes, workshop facilitation, radio and TV interviews, videos, and articles for national publications. Kevin is also an author of three new books on being a Man, personal transformation, accountability and success. Men of Color Men of Honor: Living Life as a Warrior-Lover-Provider and Becoming Successful Men of Honor in the World; the Think Beyond Belief: Success & Gratitude Core-Direction Journal and Think Beyond Belief: Success & Gratitude Core-Direction Journal for Young People - A Fathers Guide to Helping Young Men and Women Become Successful in the World.
