

Islam and the Empowerment of Women

The text of the Quran makes clear indication of a woman's autonomy over her being, mind and body and emphasizes equality between men and women in all matters (Ali-Imran: 195). Distinction between human beings is drawn only on the basis of God Consciousness, as stated in Al-Hujaraat: 13; the same text indicates that the variety in races, tribes (and gender, by implication!) is intended for the purpose of knowing/understanding each other and, ultimately, one's self. Al-Nisaa: 1 makes clear indication that Humanity was created from a female consciousness (Nafs) from which a partner was created and thus sprang many men and women. Having made such clear pronouncement of the female essence of human beings, it is inconceivable that the Almighty would denigrate and subdue female human beings. Muhammad's entire mission to support, uplift and empower the status of women is a testament to the inherent dignity and equal status of women to men in all matters.
