

Salvaje (Spanish Edition)

Un libro poderoso e incendiariamente honesto: la historia de los 1800 kilómetros que la joven autora anduvo en su recorrido a pie por la cordillera del Pacífico de los Estados Unidos. Con veintidos años creía que lo había perdido todo en la vida, tras tomar la decisión de separarse y de que su madre muriera de cáncer. Sus hermanos se dispersaron y ella se quedó sin pilares sobre los que construir su vida. Cuatro años después de la muerte de su madre toma la decisión más impulsiva de su vida: recorrer el camino de las Cumbres del Pacífico, una ruta de senderismo que recorre toda la costa oeste de los Estados Unidos, desde el desierto Mojave en California y Oregon al estado de Washington. Y decide hacerlo completamente sola. Sin ninguna experiencia en senderismo, y ni tan solo habiendo pasado jamás una noche al aire libre, para ella se trataba de una idea, vaga y extravagante y prometedora. Pero esa promesa se convirtió en la necesidad de volver a juntar las piezas del rompecabezas en que se había convertido su vida. Narrada con suspense, estilo, sentido del humor y ternura, este libro consigue atrapar el miedo y los placeres en la vida de una joven que se encuentra en el proceso de forjar su vida contra toda expectativa, en el viaje que la volvió loca, que la fortaleció, y que acabó por sanarla. / The story of an eleven-hundred-mile solo hike that broke down a young woman. At twenty-two, Cheryl thought she had lost everything. At her mother's death and her destroyed marriage she decided to hike the Pacific Crest Trail; rattlesnakes, black bears, intense heat, record snowfalls, and the beauty and loneliness of the trail. A journey that strengthened and healed her.
